FITCH PLAY AND ELAINE SERIAL

Clyde Fitch's forceful drama, "The Moth and the Flame," which established the name of that playwright among the leaders in the United States, is offered in picturized form as the early week feature at the Liberty theater. Last night it was witnessed by the usual Sunday night crowd, which packed the big Nuuanu street house to the doors. In addition was shown the 24th episode of "The Exploits of Elaine," which serial is rapidly drawing to a close and which is, incidentally, becoming more exciting as the end nears.

There is a touch of "today" in the present episode, which deals with war as a possibility for the United States. Arthur B. Reeves, the clever author of this scientific-detective series of pictures, is winning fresh glory for himself in his newly chosen field, as is demonstrated by the story which preceded the film in each Saturday's edition of the Star-Bulletin. The film proves much more enjoyable when witnessed after reading the fascinating story.

"The Moth and the Flame" is a tense, emotional drama of the home. Though it touches a phase of life that cannot be said to be known in the average family it touches a phase that sets its every auditor to thinking. It was a famous stage offering and bids fair to become equally famous in its filmed form, being a Famous Players Film Company production, acted by a Famous Players cast.

'PEACHES' IS NEW TEAL OFFERING

"If you want to get in the running just go to the races tonight at the Bijou theater," says the advance man for the Teal Ducklings. Peaches is the name of the horse to play. It is also the name of a clever and interesting musical comedy.

The Raymond Teal company will present it at popular prices, and Hazel Lake, the clever little soprano, will play the leading role, also entitled "Peaches." Miss Lake, besides playing this part with a vivacity hard to rival, also does a number of song numbers that are said to be far ahead of those yet presented. Novelty is the keynote of the new Teal offering. Every member of the company has something exceptional to do. The Teal Ducklings have been drilled by Minnie Vandervoort in many new and difficult steps, and Ernest Wolf, the musical director, has added his cleverness to the production as have also Art Phillips and Harry Marcelle, the scenic artists.

By special request Madeline Rowe will sing, "When You Were a Tulip and I Was a Big Red Rose." "Good-Bye, Boys" is another number scheduled for Miss Rowe. Hazel Lake has selected "Ragtime Band" for a big number and with the girls she will again demonstrate her ability as a song shouter. The show will start as usual at 7:30 with a moving picture, and will be followed by the musical show at 8:15. The same popular company has something exceptional to

BLAMES MODERN DRESS AS CAUSE OF NEW ILLS OF JAPANESE WOMEN

Notel Surgeon Pleads With Them to Adhere to Kimonos, and Avoid Western Styles

(By Associated Press.)
TOKIO, Japan.—Dr. Baron K. Takagi, surgeon of the Japanese navy and member of the House of Peers, does not agree with Mrs. Akiko Yosano, the noted writer, that the women of Japan should adopt the foreign style of dress in order that the race may become stronger both physically and intellectually. He advises the women to stay in their kimono, believing it more healthful and incidentally more beautiful. He is distinctly the enemy of the present day craze in Japan to take over the manners and customs of the West.

"Do you know," he said to the correspondent, "that the statistics of the deaths of women in Japan are shocking? In most of the civilized countries it is a rule that the death rate for men is higher than that for women. In Japan the reverse is true. This state of affairs did not exist in the early years of this century but has come about suddenly and only very recently. The increase of deaths among women is especially noticeable among young women. The number of deaths among young women is alarming because it means fewer births and weaker children.

"Compared with England, France or Germany the death rate for women in Japan is three times as high as in those countries."

For the growing physical ill of the race the eminent surgeon blamed the imitating of things foreign.

He advised the girls of Japan against the foreign custom of binding the waist. They should also be careful about the way they wear their obi and should cling to their Japanese kimonos instead of adopting the sleeve coats of the foreigners. The latter, he thought, were conducive to colds because they cause the wearer to perspire. He was also in favor of clinging to the Japanese clog instead of adopting the shoes of the foreigners. He also maintained that the Japanese have suffered through adopting the foreign custom of wearing hats. "Before the Japanese wore hats," he asserted, "they never had colds."

Margaret Smith, 15, died at her home in Beaver Falls, Pa., of heart disease, caused by fright when a rat jumped on her shoulder from a cupboard.

WHITE SLAVE FILM IS GOING TO COAST

For but a limited engagement "The Inside of the White Slave Traffic," the Sociological Research Association's expose of the dealings of the traffic, returned to the Hawaii theater last night and was witnessed by two large and appreciative audiences.

The film, which has the endorsement of civic betterment organizations throughout the country, will be shown at the Hawaii again tonight at two performances and tomorrow night for probably the last time in Honolulu. It returns to the coast shortly where it starts on its second tour of the United States.

"The Inside of the White Slave Traffic" was seen by several thousands during its former visit to this theater and all were agreed that its message is a warning one.

"The Adventures of Kathlyn," the wild animal serial, featuring Kathryn Williams, is also a Hawaii attraction.

TEUTONS WORRY OVER SCARCITY OF CLERGYMEN

BERLIN.—The perennial subject of the scarcity of clergymen has recently been enlivened by somebody's suggestion that wounded officers who are no longer able to serve at the front take up the study of theology. To this proposal, however, the objection is raised that "the office of a clergyman requires spiritual endowments seldom to be found in officers else they would never have yielded to their desire to become officers."

Meanwhile the scarcity of clergymen is growing greater and is expected to become still more pronounced. It is mentioned that the sons of clergymen no longer choose the ministry as their calling to the same extent as some years ago. Fifteen years ago there were still 344 clergymen's sons studying theology at the universities to every 100,000 clergymen; but by 1912 the number had already dropped to 283. It is said that, owing to the lack of clergymen, many churches in villages are being attached to others in large towns after which time have occasional services held by the clergymen from those more important churches. Not only is the tendency of young men to choose other callings than the ministry, but even those who choose it show a marked inclination later on to switch off into something else. It is noted that nearly one-third of the regular school inspectors in Prussia are former clergymen; and not a few ministers also have abandoned their calling to take positions in teachers' seminaries.

SUNDAY MOVIES GET HARD BLOW ON MAUI

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
WAILUKU, Oct. 15.—By refusing to grant the Pioneer Hotel Company license to give Sunday night moving picture shows, the Maui county board of supervisors at their last meeting met the issue after sub-stopping it for several months. Supervisor Fleming made the motion that the hotel company be denied a permit for a Sunday show, and Drummage was the only member of the board to vote against the motion. So far as the supervisors are concerned, the question over Sunday movies has now been settled.
